GLOBAL MINDSET
Managing around the world

Dear readers,
Welcome.

We are pleased to announce the publication of Protocol Today Magazine in English and Spanish language. This magazine aims to reach and serve executives, diplomats, businesspeople, consultants, students and professionals, who aspire to success in various fields of international organizations. The magazine will offer them a space to share knowledge and experiences in diplomacy and soft skills to reflect on their professional career.

Our writers arrive from different countries around the world. They will share articles on international research, applied research, and best practices on the topics of international protocol in business and diplomacy, international culture intelligence, international business etiquette, business ethics, and professional skills.

More regards,
Protocol Today Team
